The origin of the katana can be traced back to the 4th to 6th century AD, and it was introduced through China and Korea. A unique, mature and complicated knife-making method has since been developed over centuries. Katana is not only appreciated from the philosophical spiritual level of technical science, but also widely considered a high level of artistic realm.

Katana can be described as a work of superior craftsmanship with its functionality as a weapon and elegant minimalist design. Through the heat treatment of steel, it achieves both hardness and toughness.
